

PRONOUN CASE REVIEW

Directions: Fill in the blanks with the appropriate choices

1. See that young lady smacking her lips? It might have been (she, her) who stole your jelly donut.
2. Clarisse shrugged her shoulders and shook her head. Neither (she her) nor Jermaine knew the answer to question 5 on the quiz.
4. Kendra has a car. Perhaps (she her) and Ruth can run to the fish market for some fresh octopus tentacles.
5. Mom comes from a family of strict disciplinarians, so always say please and thank you around Aunt Nancy and (she her) if you don't want your earlobe twisted.
6. Don't set the platter of fried chicken in front of Amber and (she her) .
7. Jacob is a computer geek too! Ask either Stephanie or (he him) to help us bypass this security software.
The driver in front slammed on his brakes for no reason and sat in the middle of the road. Jasmine waved an angry fist at his passenger and (he him) as she drove around.
8. Sergei is so tall that you don't want to sit behind Lori and (he him) at the movies. You'll be craning to see the screen the entire film!
9. Ruth's brother has muscles bursting out of his shirt sleeves. Ask (he him) and his friend if they will help us load this sofa onto the truck.
10. If you buy a mocha latte at the café, order it from Mark. It is (he him) who will spray an avalanche of whipped cream onto the finished drink.
11. David is always well prepared for a quiz. Either (He Him) or Melissa, another excellent student, will have a #2 pencil that you can borrow.
12. With both feet planted on the floor, Wesley could still reach the lightbulb in the kitchen ceiling. I wish I were as tall as (him he)! (Incomplete construction)
13. Cameron has a problem with punctuality. Neither (he him) nor his roommate Jeb remember to get the rent check to the landlord on the first of the month.
14. Kelvin has so much hair that he must buy a new bottle of shampoo every week. I wouldn't want to have as much hair as(he him) . (Incomplete construction)
15. See that young man with the ponytail? Give this glass of lemonade to (him he) .
16. Did you notice the toilet paper streamers hanging from the Pattersons' trees? It was (we us) who did the "decorating"!
17. Has anyone seen Squeeze, a ten-foot albino python? He belongs to (we us) two.
18. The bakery manager told (we us) shoppers that fresh chocolate muffins were ready to purchase.
19. Sylvester photocopied his notes for those of us who missed class; (We Us) recipients appreciated the help but couldn't read his chicken scratch handwriting.
20. Were those your clothes in the dryer? It was (we us) who folded them when the cycle ended.
21. Professor Simpson finally relented and gave (we us) students the 20 bonus points he promised if we could silence our cell phones for an entire week of class.
22. Mom and Dad explained that they had saved enough money to visit Daytona Beach for summer vacation; (we us) kids were happy to learn that this year the family would avoid another two weeks on Aunt Imelda's pig farm.
23. Professor Glennon announced that she would drop our lowest test grade to help our final averages; (we us) students gave her a standing ovation, desperate to pass sociology.
24. See those students over there? (They and I, Them and I) will join you for a game if you want to share your basketball.
25. Yikes, those Nuclear Toaster fans are really rowdy! Too bad for you, seating is assigned, so you are between (Emilio and they, Emilio and them) .
26. The squirrels crouched against the branches, stone still, as a hawk circled overhead. (They Them) and the other tree dwellers relaxed when the raptor finally abandoned the hunt and flew away.

27. My dog Oreo loves to rip paper. (She Her) and the cat have a system; Buster bats the mail to the floor where Oreo shreds it.
28. I didn't spill that coffee on your essay! It was (she her) , that blonde sipping the cappuccino and flirting with Carlos.
29. Give Lisa your homework to check. It is (she her) who knows all of the complicated rules that govern pronoun case.
30. Please pass these four quarters to Yolanda and(she her) . Last week they lent me a dollar, and I want to pay them back.
31. (Who, Whom) will you invite to the party?
32. (Whoever, Whomever) parked this car needs to move it.
33. There is a fifty-dollar reward for (whoever, whomever) finds and returns my dog.
34. (Who, Whom) is Elaine living with?
35. (Who, Whom) is that man at the end of the alley?
36. He is the kind of person (who, whom), my father says, will always be able to multiply his money.
37. Give the package to (whoever, whomever) the group elected.
38. To (who, whom) should I give this letter?
39. The parents of that baby, (whoever, whomever) they are, shouldn't leave it alone.
40. Can you tell (Directions: Fill in the blanks with the appropriate choices

KEY

1. See that young lady smacking her lips? It might have been (she, her) who stole your jelly donut. P N
2. Clarisse shrugged her shoulders and shook her head. Neither (she her) nor Jermaine knew the answer to question 5 on the quiz. SUB
4. Kendra has a car. Perhaps (she her) and Ruth can run to the fish market for some fresh octopus tentacles. SUB
5. Mom comes from a family of strict disciplinarians, so always say please and thank you around Aunt Nancy and (she her) if you don't want your earlobe twisted. O P
6. Don't set the platter of fried chicken in front of Amber and (she her) . O P
7. Jacob is a computer geek too! Ask either Stephanie or (he him) to help us bypass this security software. DO w/ UNDERSTOOD SUBJECT
The driver in front slammed on his brakes for no reason and sat in the middle of the road.
Jasmine waved an angry fist at his passenger and (he him) as she drove around. OP
8. Sergei is so tall that you don't want to sit behind Lori and (he him) at the movies. You'll be craning to see the screen the entire film! OP
9. Ruth's brother has muscles bursting out of his shirt sleeves. Ask (he him) and his friend if they will help us load this sofa onto the truck. DO w/ UNDERSTOOD SUBJECT
10. If you buy a mocha latte at the café, order it from Mark. It is (he him) who will spray an avalanche of whipped cream onto the finished drink. PN
11. David is always well prepared for a quiz. Either (He Him) or Melissa, another excellent student, will have a #2 pencil that you can borrow. SUB
12. With both feet planted on the floor, Wesley could still reach the lightbulb in the kitchen ceiling. I wish I were as tall as (him he) ! (Incomplete construction) SUB
13. Cameron has a problem with punctuality. Neither (he him) nor his roommate Jeb remember to get the rent check to the landlord on the first of the month. SUB
14. Kelvin has so much hair that he must buy a new bottle of shampoo every week. I wouldn't want to have as much hair as (he him) . (Incomplete construction) SUB
15. See that young man with the ponytail? Give this glass of lemonade to (him he) . OP
16. Did you notice the toilet paper streamers hanging from the Pattersons' trees? It was (we us) who did the "decorating"! PN
17. Has anyone seen Squeeze, a ten-foot albino python? He belongs to (we us) two. OP
18. The bakery manager told (we us) shoppers that fresh chocolate muffins were ready to purchase. DO
19. Sylvester photocopied his notes for those of us who missed class; (We Us) recipients appreciated the help but couldn't read his chicken scratch handwriting. SUB
20. Were those your clothes in the dryer? It was (we us) who folded them when the cycle ended. PN
21. Professor Simpson finally relented and gave (we us) students the 20 bonus points he promised if we could silence our cell phones for an entire week of class. DO
22. Mom and Dad explained that they had saved enough money to visit Daytona Beach for summer vacation; (we us) kids were happy to learn that this year the family would avoid another two weeks on Aunt Imelda's pig farm. SUB
23. Professor Glennon announced that she would drop our lowest test grade to help our final averages; (we us) students gave her a standing ovation, desperate to pass sociology. SUB
24. See those students over there? (They and I, Them and I) will join you for a game if you want to share your basketball. SUB
25. Yikes, those Nuclear Toaster fans are really rowdy! Too bad for you, seating is assigned, so you are between (Emilio and they, Emilio and them). OP
26. The squirrels crouched against the branches, stone still, as a hawk circled overhead. (They Them) and the other tree dwellers relaxed when the raptor finally abandoned the hunt and flew away. SUB

27. My dog Oreo loves to rip paper. (She Her) and the cat have a system; Buster bats the mail to the floor where Oreo shreds it. SUB
28. I didn't spill that coffee on your essay! It was (she her) , that blonde sipping the cappuccino and flirting with Carlos. PN
29. Give Lisa your homework to check. It is (she her) who knows all of the complicated rules that govern pronoun case. PN
30. Please pass these four quarters to Yolanda and (she her) . Last week they lent me a dollar, and I want to pay them back. OP
31. (Who, Whom) will you invite to the party? SUB
32. (Whoever, Whomever) parked this car needs to move it. SUB
33. There is a fifty-dollar reward for (whoever, whomever) finds and returns my dog. OP
34. (Who, Whom) is Elaine staying with? OP
35. (Who, Whom) is that man at the end of the alley? PN
36. He is the kind of person (who, whom), my father says, will always be able to multiply his money. SUB
37. Give the package to (whoever, whomever) the group elected. OP
38. To (who, whom) should I give this letter? OP
39. The parents of that baby, (whoever, whomever) they are, shouldn't leave it alone. PN
40. Can you tell (who, whom) she looks like? DO